Daily water supply system status updates: Monday, 8 May 2023 (Morning)

Water supply status update by exception (i.e., areas affected due to supply constraint and not service interruption from occasional pipe burst).

Unplanned interruption

UPDATE: Yeoville pump station

Johannesburg Water apologises to customers who are still impacted by the water outage due to a faulty motor at the Yeoville Pump Station. We expect delivery of the repaired motor later this afternoon, after which the technical team will commission the pump. Further updates will be provided to customers. Alternative water supply continues to be provided to affected customers through mobile tankers.

Reason: An internal structural assessment of Yeoville Reservoir 3 will be conducted. The reason that the interruption will take four days is because the assessment process includes water samples being extracted from the reservoir and taken for testing at Cydna Laboratory. The water-testing process will be done before and after the internal structural assessment. Then after the release of the water quality results, the shutdown will be concluded.

Water tankers: Tankers will be placed strategically in affected areas after consultation with ward councillors.
