Update on Randjieslaagte Reservoir

Johannesburg Water is expecting the required material to be delivered today, and upon arrival of the material, the replacement of the 10m length steel pipe will then commence.

In the interim, the reservoir has been filled and opened to supply normally, however. The Johannesburg Water team will continue to monitor and respond to airlocks while the system recovers.

Alternative water supply through water tankers continues to be provided to the affected areas.

Further updates will be provided.
